

THE HEIR TO THE HOORAH."

Seats are now selling for "The Heir to the Hoorah," which opens at the Grand Thursday night for four performances. The company which presents "The Heir to the Hoorah" has been much praised for excellent team work, as well as for individual ability. Among them are several people well known here by reason of capable and effective effort in the past. Guy Bates Post, seen last season as Steve in "The Virginian" mostly in the East; Jane Peyton, former leading woman in "The Earl of Pawtucket;" Ernest Lamson, recently a star himself; Nora O'Brien, late leading woman with Viola Allen; Louise Rutter, last seen here with J. M. Stoddart; Brinsley Shaw, Wilfred Lucas, Cassion Quimby, Harry Rick, T. Tammamoto, a Japanese actor; George Barr, Florence Coventry and Ben Higgins and Frank Monroe.
